Summer jobs for youths

President Gerald Ford plans to sign a bill providing summer jobs for 840,400 youths in economically disadvantaged families. It was announced today. The $436 million program includes $27 million for Illinoisans.

The work for 14-to-21-year-olds will cover nine to 12 weeks and pay at least $2.10 an hour. Those selected will work at state and local-level agencies in a variety of jobs not usually sought by full-time employees. Public service employment and training are to be offered to those in financial need. The legislation identifies as poor an urban family of four with an annual income of $5,000 or less.

Weather outlook for this region

Partly cloudy and warmer today with slight chance of thundershowers. High in the 80s. Chance of few periods of thundershowers tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight in the 60s. High Tuesday near 90. Partly cloudy and mild Wednesday through Friday with lows in the 60s and highs in the 80s.

$7 million for River Road here

The state proposes to spend $7,625,000 in 1975 and 1976 to extend Federal Aid Route 11 (Great River Road) south from Niedringhaus Avenue, Granite City to the McKinley Bridge area of Venice.

A record $70 million improvement and construction program heavily financed with Man dies in jail

A 33-year-old St. Louis man was found dead, apparently strangling himself at 2 a.m. yesterday in a cell at the Venice Police Station.

He had been taken there earlier upon being arrested and charged with driving while his license was suspended and a no-carries driving.

Edward J. Ware, St. Louis, was arrested at 12:30 a.m. Sunday in the 600 block of Broadway after a motorist told police Ware's auto had tempted to force his car off the road.

The legislation permits the state to shift funds between categories of highway work, enabling it to undertake more highway improvements. It allows the state to defer until Jan. 1, 1977, paying back the state's share of the highway cost.

Bond said, "We are proposing an additional $200 million increase in Series A bonds to capture the federal money that is available to us."

"These bonds would be in addition to the Supplemental Freeway Bonds, so as not to slow down the freeways. It is imperative that the additional bonds be authorized. Otherwise, the program would have to be reduced substantially by $225 million."

During fiscal 1986, a total 1,041 miles of roads statewide will be constructed or widened and resurfaced.

Of this mileage, 1,021 miles of heavily traveled roads used in going to work or the market or nearby cities will be improved.

recently-released impounded federal highway funds was announced Friday by Illinois Transportation Secretary Langhorne Bond.

The program, which exceeds the last fiscal year's record program by $150.4 million, uses $79.2 million less of state funds than last year. Federal funds are increased by $831.5 million compared to fiscal 1975.

Bond pointed out, "This shifts the burden of financing the funds to federal funds."

The state expenditures will be decreased by 59 per cent from $135.8 million for 1975 while the federal funds are expected to increase by 146 per cent or $331.5 million in 1976."

Plans include widening seven miles of Illinois Route 139 between Edwardsville and Maryville.

On June 4, special highway legislation sought by Gov. Dan Walker and other governors to take advantage of federal highway funds that had been held back during the Johnson, Nixon and Ford administrations, was approved by President Gerald Ford.

The legislation permits the state to shift funds between categories of highway work, enabling it to undertake more highway improvements. It allows the state to defer until Jan. 1, 1977, paying back the state's share of the highway cost.

TAX DISCUSSION by school officials Thursday at the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce office. Clockwise, from the left, are Granite City Supt. B. J. Davis, Venice Supt. Robert Vickers, former State Superintendent of Public Instruction George T. Wilkins Sr., Madison Supt. John Falchiff and (in the foreground) Edward F. Reiske, Chamber executive vice-president.

With college, school taxes on downtrend

Now that the Quad-City area is a full-fledged participant in the Belleville Area College program, which replaces some services formerly provided by local school districts, the school systems' tax rates have shown a decrease.

Extension of a tax rate per $100 assessed valuation of 18.1 cents — which will be paid this year for the first time by Quad-City taxpayers to the BAC district — was discussed Thursday by the executive board of the Education Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce in a meeting at the Chamber office.

The tax for the college district was extended after the local area became a part of the college district nearly a year ago. Taxpayers are paying the college tax this year for the first time.

Attending the meeting were Dr. George T. Wilkins Sr., chairman; Robert Vickers, superintendent, Venice school district; John Falchiff, Madison superintendent; and B. J. Davis, superintendent, Granite City public schools.

The committee said that since this is the first year that area taxpayers will be paying a college tax, it was felt that a cost pattern should be analyzed.

In the past, a special tax has been levied by each of the three school districts, Venice, Madison and Granite City, to pay the tuition of community college students because the area did not belong to any College District.

This tax is now eliminated except in the Granite City district, where a small tax has been levied to pay for the remaining tuitions of students who were attending some other college prior to this area's annexation by BAC. The tax rate amounts to 1.98 cents for this year only in Granite City.

Each of the three school districts shows a decrease in overall tax rate for the 1974 tax year, for which taxes will be collected this year.

The total tax rate for the Venice district is $2.764 as compared with $2.813 last year. The total tax rate for Madison schools is $2.88, compared to $2.86 a year.

For Granite City, the school tax rate this year is $3.707, compared to last year's tax rate of $3.79.

It is felt the boards of education should be commended in the three districts for their efficiency and economical operation of the school districts," Wilkins commented.

Collection of taxes in progress

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Collection of personal taxes is under way in all four townships of the Quad-City area while bills are being prepared for collection of 1974 taxes on realty property beginning the latter part of this month, it was reported Friday by the town collectors of the four townships.

Tax collections are being made locally by collectors of Granite City, Venice, Nameski and Chouteau Townships this year despite the fact that the townships no longer retain fees from tax payments to finance collection operations, requiring the townships to pay the cost of collections from town funds.

In addition, the townships making their own local collections will be billed by the county for the work of preparing bills and administering the countywide collection system.

In all instances, township officials decided to make collections locally because the town collectors have the authority to distribute to the taxing agencies of their respective townships the money

Educators study cut in budget

The State Board of Education has set a special meeting for Thursday in Chicago to discuss the governor's six per cent budget reduction and its impact on Illinois schools.

State Superintendent of Education Joseph St. Cronin related he said, "Some school districts with low assessed valuation and many Title I children receive as much as 60 per cent of their funds from the state, whereas some dual districts with high assessed valuation receive as little as five per cent of their operating funds from the state."

The proposed cut would require the state to pre-empt

School districts won't be affected equally by the cut, Cronin related he said, "Some school districts with low assessed valuation and many Title I children receive as much as 60 per cent of their funds from the state, whereas some dual districts with high assessed valuation receive as little as five per cent of their operating funds from the state."

Mile-long harbor gives potential for major inland port

COMBINED HARBOR AREA now is served by Tri-City Regional Port District. This view looking to the south along the Chain of Rocks Canal harbor shows the original Port District territory in the foreground and, in the distance, the former Bi-State Development Agency terminal that has been acquired by the Tri-City Port. In the far distance are the two canal locks.

(Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission)

The Tri-City Regional Port District, with planning and SMIAPC, has formulated a phased development plan and program to maximize its role as a major inland port.

The Tri-City Port is strategically located with respect to the 25,000-mile inland waterway system. The port also has a high degree of accessibility by rail, highway and pipeline.

Three hundred acres of land are available for port development in the harbor area. The 1,000-foot harbor, located in the Chain of Rocks Canal, is one of the northernmost ice-free, slack water harbors on the Mississippi River.

An analysis of market conditions prepared for the overall development program indicates the potential for growth at the port is very good.

This potential primarily lies with the expanded function of the port as a major inter-modal terminal and transfer complex for bulk commodity shipments.

This intermodal function has been divided into three categories:

1. As a collection center for materials produced within the port service area (grain, grain mill products, Illinois coal, chemicals, durable manufactures, etc.)

2. As a distribution center for materials consumed within the port service area (petroleum products, chemicals, fertilizer, etc.)

3. As transfer (transshipment) point for Midwestern, transcontinental and overseas shipments.

The port's ideal location and its degree of accessibility make it a logical point to transfer commodities between transportation modes to allow lowest over-all transportation costs (i.e., coal, soda ash, grain, grain products and petroleum products).

The port's development program emphasizes

Accept center for seminars

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President John S. Rendleman's acceptance of the John M. Olin property in the name of the SIUE Board of Trustees — and the action of the board's Executive Committee in approving legal instruments in connection with the gift of the property — were ratified by the Board of Trustees on Thursday at a meeting in Carbondale.

The resolution adopted by the board also expresses formally the public purposes advanced by the Olin gift, to be known as the John M. Olin Conference and Cultural Center of SIUE.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin announced May 30 their plans to give to SIUE their Alton residence on a 35-acre tract and their life estate interest in 300 acres adjoining the residence.

The 300 acres, except for the life estate, had been given to the Illinois Department of Conservation in 1969, and the Department of Conservation has now sponsored a bill in the General Assembly to convey the property to SIUE.

Dr. Rendleman had been authorized by the SIU board in April to accept the property as soon as necessary legal instruments were completed.

In a letter to the trustees, Olin stipulated that "the gift property should be held, used and operated exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes."

In the resolution adopted Thursday, SIU trustees acknowledged Olin's stipulations, and they said the center fulfills "an important and strategic need" of SIUE, providing the university with facilities and resources which otherwise would be practically unobtainable.

The resolution states the gift will enable the university to respond to increasing demands for delivery of innovative programs and services of vital importance, particularly programs requiring facilities conducive to intensive seminar formats in surroundings removed from typical living and working environments or from the usual campus-related activities.

The resolution also says that the Olin Center will enhance SIUE's capabilities in a number of ways, including its ability to work toward the goal of helping resolve matters of "social, economic, intellectual, scientific and public importance in the state's second major metropolitan area and the important region surrounding that area."

Burglarize school

An unknown quantity of change was taken from a self drink vending machine at Nameoki School, 1820 Pontoon Road, between 4 p.m. Thursday and 7 a.m. Friday, police were told.

Burglars entered the school through a cafeteria window from which they forced off a screen.

The principal's office and the teachers' lounge were ransacked, and an audio-visual materials room was broken into.

Renovation plans approved

Plans and specifications for renovations to the seventh floor of the Broadview Building, the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, were approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

SIUE officers were authorized by the board to proceed with bidding, the $125,000 project, for which funds were approved in the University's 1975 capital budget.

Seventh floor improvements at the Broadview Building will provide expanded facilities to house the Performing Arts Training Center. Renovation will provide for a main dance studio which will accommodate up to 60 students in a single class, men's and women's dressing rooms, restrooms for the general public, makeup rooms and a film projection booth. Elevator repairs also are included.

Mother and tot exercise class

The Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., has initiated a new activity for area residents — mother and tot exercising — starting tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m., under the direction of Anita Moore.

The leader, who has a bachelor of science degree in physical education from SIUE and is currently working on a master's degree in education, is assisted in instructing the all-summer-long, twice-a-week sessions by her two-year-old daughter Carolyn.

The program will be held each Tuesday and Thursday. Mrs. Moore relates that the exercise sessions for mothers and their children, aged six months to five years, are being made available to provide general physical fitness for both — and to provide a unique opportunity to develop fitness in children at an early age.

"These sessions are designed to develop strength and control at an early age and enhance the infant's development and mental alertness," says Mrs. Moore.

"By the same token," she adds, "physically fit mothers are able to withstand fatigue for longer periods of time and develop a stronger and more efficient heart."

"Another benefit to the mother is a terrific sense of well-being and an improved appearance."

Additional information on the mother-tot exercise classes can be obtained by contacting the "Y" at 876-1200.

She had been ill for two years and underwent major surgery at the local hospital a week ago.

They allegedly entered Miss Mae's Tavern, 1369 Edwardsville Road, May 28, displayed guns and robbed Miss Mae Bangert, the owner, and four patrons.

Separate counts of armed robbery allege they took a watch and cash from Miss Bangert; a watch, wallet and cash from Howard Green; a watch, ring, wallet and cash from James Welch; a wallet and cash from Daisy Welch, and a watch from Laura Lampeneyer.

Each was released on a $35,000 recognizance bond.

The grand jury also indicted Anthony Goodman, 21, of 1200 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, and James Dukes, 21, of the 2000 block of Edward Street, on charges of burglary each.

It is alleged that the trio entered the building of Mrs. Mabry, 210 1/2 Niedringhaus Ave., May 27, and took several items.

Dukes was released on a $10,000 recognizance bond and Goodman posted a $3,500 recognizance bond and was released.

Floyd Wallace, 29, of the 2130 block of Rock Road, was named in a two-count burglary indictment. He allegedly was seen by three off-duty Granite City officers as he and a juvenile boy allegedly broke into the lot of R. Indicted on three counts alleging forgery was Yolanda Brown, who also uses the name Mary Louise Brooks, 17, of East St. Louis.

She allegedly attempted to cash three checks stolen from the Edith Shelton Nursing Home in East St. Louis, at the First National Bank in Madison, May 15 and 16.

Her bond was set at $15,000.

Youth wounded by shot from car

James Rutter, 17, of 1718 Cleveland Blvd., is in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital with gunshot wounds to the arm and leg.

Sharon Wylie, 28, of 2113 Delmar Ave., also suffered a wound to her head following disturbances Thursday night and early Friday in the 2130 block of Delmar Avenue.

Anthony J. "Tino" Valencia Jr., 18, of 3124 Davis St., is being charged with aggravated battery for allegedly shooting Rutter from a passing car while he and others were standing in front of a building at 2133 Delmar Ave., at 10:45 p.m. Thursday.

Witnesses said Rutter and others were standing in front of the building when a southbound car slowed and a shotgun blast came from the right rear window, about 25 feet away from Rutter.

Most of the blast struck Rutter's upper chest and a few pellets struck the left arm of Jackie Butler, 24, of 2134 Delmar Ave.

Rutter was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted to the intensive care unit with numerous pellets to his upper body, neck and arms and a left collapsed lung, according to officials. He said he did not know who shot him.

Witnesses said the shot came from a white car containing three or four men which left a high rate of speed. Granite City police broadcast the car's description to other police departments and Madison officers reported stopping a car matching the description at 19th Street and Madison Ave. Four men in the car were taken into custody, including Valencia. Only Valencia "has been charged."

Early Friday, Mrs. Sharon Wylie, 28, of 2113 Delmar Ave., reported a man struck her on the head with a gun about midnight at her home. She was discharged when the man struck her.

Police had received several reports of gunshots being heard in that area after the Rutter shooting.

Mrs. Wylie said a man was chasing her, stopped and threatened another man and then resumed chasing her, striking her on the head with the gun. He then left the scene.

Don Coggins, 2133 Delmar Ave., said he saw the man chasing Mrs. Wylie and as they passed near him, the man displayed a gun and said to Coggins, "Don't move, or I'll kill you too." The gunman then continued to chase Mrs. Wylie, he reported.

Mrs. Wylie was admitted to the hospital with a cut to her scalp.

SCHOOL RANSACKED

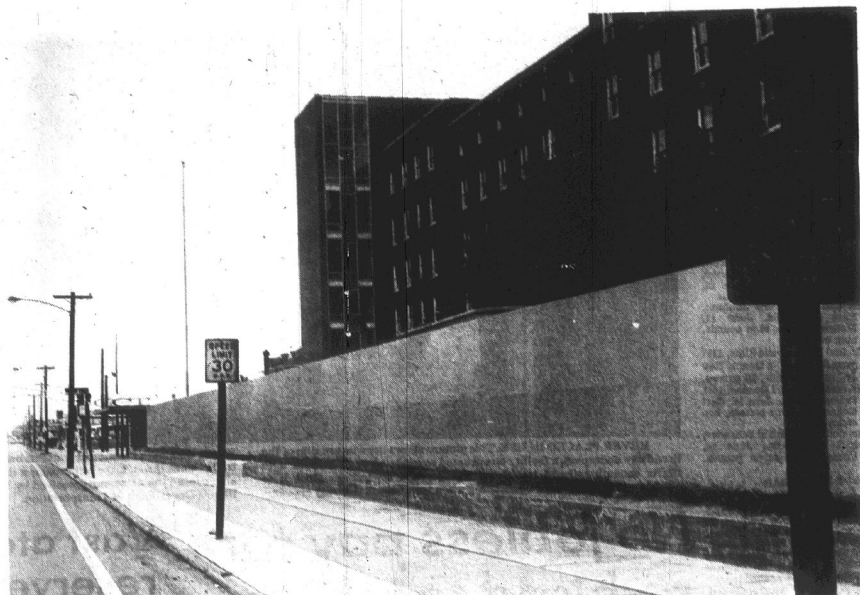

A Madison County deputy sheriff while on patrol at 2:20 a.m. Saturday discovered that Stallings School, Highway 162, had been entered. Officials and class rooms were ransacked, orange paint spilled on the floor, fire extinguishers discharged and "JS 75" spray paint on the wall. Forty pounds of beer and two dozen eggs were taken. Police found two sets of footprints at the scene.

RADIO STOLEN

A citizens' band radio, valued at $139, was stolen from a car parked on the Granite City Steel lot it was reported at 9:35 p.m. Thursday. Security guards in the lot on 16th Street said they saw two men in a red Cadillac with a white vinyl top speed from the scene. The auto looked like a Bob Reeves of Marine.

$200 TAKEN

Mrs. Thelma Lawrence of Texas reported to Madison police at 10:15 p.m. Sunday that as she was approaching her son's residence at 815 Alton Ave., a man ran by her and grabbed her purse and continued running. Value of the contents was reported at $200.

HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS have been tentatively outlined, with a goal of expanding use of the oldest wing (along Madison Avenue) by installing 14 offices for physicians. St. Elizabeth Hospital already has 11 such offices and sees a continuing shortage of office facilities for medical staff members. This view to the north shows a fence that has been erected in connection with plumbing alterations.

Hospital formulating plans for renovation

St. Elizabeth Hospital has gone through the planning process that is required to make renovations to the hospital complex.

At this point, officials say, the hospital has received:

1. Certificate of Need legislation.
 2. State of Illinois permit procedure.
 3. Southwestern Illinois Hospital Planning Council approval.
 4. Approval from the Alliance for Regional Community Health (ARCH) Board.
- In approving the project, ARCH's project review committee said last week it will "significantly improve the local community's access to primary health care."
- The hospital is presently having the DEG Associates architectural firm of St. Louis develop drawings.
- The hospital is also negotiating with prospective developers to build and manage a physician offices that will be included in the renovated area.
- The cost is estimated at approximately $1,500,000 and it will be shared by the hospital and the developer.

These plans will include the entrance to the physician offices in the old emergency room area; use of the third and fourth floors for doctors' suites; and utilization of the fifth floor as administrative offices.

"We would like to emphasize that these plans are tentative at this point. Also, no new hospital beds are planned," a spokesman said.

"Locating the physician offices in the hospital should improve medical staff productivity by reducing traffic time and making the offices more accessible to patients," the spokesman added.

5 hurt in Rt. 162 crash

Jerry Hutchinson, 32, of 4610 Kirkpatrick Homes, 2 children, Darla, 11, and Brad, 12 were admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:30 p.m. Sunday following an auto accident.

The Hutchinsons car, eastbound on Illinois Route 162, collided with an auto driven by Herman M. Pedder, 72, of Collinsville, at State Aid 35 Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

INFORMATION VACUUM?

By
LESTER W. BRANN, JR.
President
Illinois State
Chamber of Commerce

The actual impact a bill will have if adopted by the Illinois General Assembly constitutes, perhaps, the largest vacuum of information a legislator faces when casting his vote. But once in a while, he gets lucky. An issue comes along that isn't completely new.

One example pending in the state legislature now is a measure to outlaw the use of non-returnable beverage containers. The purpose is to help reduce litter and improve the quality of our environment. But the idea of requiring deposits on containers and making them returnable is not unique to Illinois.

The model for Senate Bill 376, sponsored by Senator Bradley Glass (R-Northbrook) and House Bill 746, sponsored by Rep. Leland Rayson (D-Tinley Park), is the so-called Oregon Bottle Bill that went into effect in 1972. A provision of that law, like the Illinois proposals, required that a study of the law's effects, including its economic impact, effectiveness, cost and other problems, be completed before 1975.

What the study showed was that total litter in Oregon did decrease by 10.6% after the bill was passed. Beverage-related litter declined dramatically by 66%, but since that type of litter only represented 30% of the total, the real decline was only 10.6%.

Other impacts of the Oregon legislation, however, support arguments of opponents to the new law. Five industries, including soft drink producers, brewers, beer wholesalers and distributors, can and glass bottle manufacturers showed a total decrease in employment in their industries. They also showed a decrease in profits of at least $6.8 million. And besides these factors, the sale of packaged beer and soft drinks in the state of Oregon went down.

All this also brought decreases in state and local tax revenues.

Illinois, of course, is not Oregon, and a ban on non-returnable containers here could have more detrimental effects. But at least this is one issue where legislators are not operating in an information vacuum.

Anne Leslie Schreck and Louis Draganich are wed

Arrangements of garden foliage and brass candelabra holding slender tapered candles decorated the altar at the First United Presbyterian Church, 32nd Street and Delmar Avenue, for the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Anne Leslie Schreck and Louis Draganich.

The Rev. David Bruce Maxson officiated at the 7 o'clock double ring ceremony in the presence of 175 guests.

The soloist and guitarist, Jane Christ, cousin of the bride, performed an original composition, written by her especially for the occasion.

Fam Lewis, flutist, played "Idylle" by Godard, "What Are You Doing the Rest of Your Life?" by M. Legerand and Debussy's "Reverie." She was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. L. C. Schmidt.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Schreck of Collinsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Draganich, 2713 Grand Ave.

Serving as honor attendant for her sister was Robin Schreck. The bridesmaids were Sophia Draganich, sister of the groom, Donna Nulse and Maria Kesterson, all of Granite City.

Emery Ackerman, Granite City, served as best man. The groomsmen were George Mosogood of Papillion, Neb., and Carl and Dennis Karam of Richmond Heights, Mo.

The guests were seated by Jeffrey Parney and Tony Wallis, both of Granite City.

Escorted down the candid aisle by her father, the bride wore a hooded gown fashioned of white maracane jersey, with a high softly-folded neckline, gathered at the shoulders, flared bodice and long narrow sleeves.

The chapel length train fell into a soft sweep from the empire bodice. She carried an arm bouquet of white mini-art cocktail orchids, baby's breath and leather leaf.

The maid of honor wore a floor length gown of pale lime green tulle, styled with full long sleeves and a V-neckline. The bridesmaid appeared in identical dresses of deep turquoise tulle, with long sleeves and a V-neckline. The bridesmaid carried a bouquet of zebra leaves, ivy and other garden greenery, accented with yellow roses.

Guests were entertained at a reception at Sunset Hills Country Club.

The couple is employed in the creative media department of Vollman Advertising, Collinsville.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University, the groom is presently attending Washington University, pursuing a master's degree in electrical engineering and certification as a bio-medical engineer.

Out-of-town guests attended from New Mexico, Georgia, Indiana, Missouri and Nebraska. The newlyweds will reside in Granite City.

Vanessa G. Cook becomes Mrs. Michael W. Mercer

The wedding of Miss Vanessa G. Cook, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Cook, Perryville, Ark., and Michael W. Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Watson Mercer, 3317 Wabash Ave., was solemnized on May 24 at the First Assembly of God Church.

Officiating at the double ring service at 7:30 in the evening were the Rev. Randall Storer and the Rev. Dale Edwards.

Blue candles in branched candelabra, arranged with bouquets of summer blossoms, decorated the sanctuary. Organist Sylvia Spangler accompanied Jan James, the vocalist. Selections include "Follow Me," "Day by Day," "If," "Wedding Song" and the Lord's Prayer.

For her wedding, the former Miss Cook chose a gown of angel-skin peau, featuring a molded bodice and high neckline of Chantilly lace. Matching lace formed caplets on the shepheress sleeves and edged the tightly fitted cuffs.

The full, gathered skirt swept into a chapel train.

A halo headpiece secured her full length veil, bordered in scalloped lace, and she held a bouquet of daisies and stephanotis, intermingled with baby's breath and greenery.

Formal length gowns of dotted swiss in blue, green, lavender and peach made with long full sleeves and gathered skirts, terminating in a ruffled flounce at the hem were worn by the bridesmaids.

Lace-trimmed the neckline and bodice. Each attendant held a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath in a color to match her gown and wore a picture hat.

Miss Lynette Cook, a sister of the bride, Miss Marsha Cluts, Mrs. Vicki Simpson, the groom's sister, and Miss Shari Gosnell, a cousin of the groom, were the attendants.

Rhona and Tammy Cook, nieces of the bride, were the flower girls, wearing white dotted swiss dresses enhanced with blue ribbon and lace on the bodices. They wore white hats and held small baskets of daisies.

David Kruse, a cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer.

Best man was Jerry Mercer, the groom's cousin. The groomsmen and ushers included Douglas Cook, a brother of the bride, Ron Simpson, the groom's brother-in-law, Carl Mercer, the groom's brother, Marty Mercer and Duane Smalle, cousins of the groom, and Dave Senior.

Both the reception and rehearsal dinner were held in the church fellowship hall.

The newly married couple is residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Panama City Beach, Fla.

Graduates of Granite City High School, the bride and groom also graduated from Lewis and Clark Junior College. Both are employed in the dietary department at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Cook, mother of the bride, wore a long pink gown with a full skirt. The groom's mother selected a floor-length frock in mint green with a V-neckline, traced with a tiny ruffle, and long sleeves.

MAN AND MEDICINE

Drug overdose
a leading killerBy IRWIN J. POLK, M.D.
Drug overdose is the chief killer of young adults in many American cities.

All social and economic groups are at risk. Many of the victims are habitual drug users, but by no means all of them. In a study from New York City, only 30 per cent of the victims of drug overdose (OD) were habitual users. The rest were occasional users who had made a mistake.

Heroin is the drug most likely to cause overdose. It is known on the street as smack, dope, scag, horse, white stuff and by many other names. By the time the drug reaches its users, it has been diluted many times with quinine, or sugar, even talc or cornstarch.

So the final dosage form contains about 5 to 10 per cent heroin, which is equal to about a quarter-grain of morphine. Some cases of drug overdose occur when a user gets a supply which has been adulterated less than he expected. Besides heroin, other drugs in the same family cause problems of overdose, including morphine, codeine, Talwin, and methadone.

Most of the time, overdose is caused by maintaining, using the drug directly into the vein. But these drugs can all be taken by other routes. They can be inhaled ("snorting"), used under the skin intradermally or subcutaneously ("skin popping"), or even by mouth. But the lethal route is usually the one through the veins.

Signs and symptoms of drug overdose for all of these drugs are the same. They occur because the drugs depress the central nervous system, making it sluggish and unresponsive, so the patients appear sluggish and unresponsive. About 25 per cent of patients with OD are stuporous. That is to say they are unresponsive and can be roused only with great difficulty if at all. The other 75 per cent are comatose; they can't be aroused at all.

The most serious problem caused by drug OD is respiratory depression. Drugs which slow down the nervous system tend also to work on the centers in the brain which control breathing. So breathing slows and becomes shallow, to the point where not enough air is exchanged by the lungs to support life. The usual cause of death in drug overdose is failure of the breathing mechanism.

There is a third important sign of overdose, pinpoint pupils. One of the effects of these drugs is to contract the pupils of the eye, almost to pinpoint size. This effect may be masked by use of other drugs at the same time. At least a quarter of the patients seen with drug OD have used another drug, a third of them had used alcohol, a fifth methadone, and barbiturates and other sedatives had been used along with the "hard" drugs in half the patients seen with drug overdose.

So stupor or coma, respiratory depression and pinpoint pupils are the three most important diagnostic signs of drug overdose as seen in the emergency room.

There are other clues to the condition. "Tracks" are an important clue. These are scars in the skin and veins from repeated "mainline" injections of the drugs. A "necklace sign" is often present, consisting of cigarette burns of the neck and chest which occur when the addict does off while using drugs.

The unconscious patient may be found with muck in his throat, put there by a friend trying to revive him. Sometimes cold packs of ice cubes are found in the groin when they have been used to attempt to stimulate and revive the stuporous patient. And of course, doctors and nurses examine the patient's effects for "works," needles, and other items used to self-administer drugs.

Drug overdose is becoming an increasingly frequent and serious problem in the hospital emergency rooms of center cities and suburbs. The three main signs — coma, respiratory depression and pinpoint pupils — so should be remembered.

DILEMMA IN THE STACKS—Maneuvering a wheelchair around tables and through the stacks at Loyola's library can be a problem to disabled students. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville administrators have learned. Getting books down from high shelves is also a problem. To understand the barriers confronting wheelchair-bound students, John S. Rendleman, president of the University, and seven other officials recently spent the entire day in a wheelchair.

JURY BEING SELECTED IN MURDER CASE TODAY

A jury was being selected today in Madison County Circuit Court at Edwardsville for the trial of Larry A. Whitford, 18, of the 2000 block of Evans Avenue, charged with murdering two young women on Chouteau Island Feb. 11.

Jury selection began at 10 a.m. today and the court was recessed at 11:30 a.m.

The jury selection was to resume at 1:15 p.m. today. Whitford is charged with slaying to death Mrs. Donna Marie Bartels, 21, and Miss Pam Brooks, 18. Their bodies were allegedly thrown into the Mississippi River.

WOMEN HURT TODAY

Carol Moehren, 38, of 2208 Washington Ave., and Evelyn Heath, 41, of 304 Wilson Park Lane, were injured when their auto collided at 27th Street and Grand Avenue at 7:45 a.m. today. Both drivers were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Carol Moehren was admitted with a back injury and the other driver was being treated this morning for shoulder injuries.

Wheelchair Students Have Problems, SIUE Leaders Learn

Playing "follow the leader" over a college campus in a wheelchair may sound like fun, but to this caravan of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville administrators, instructors and students who took the tour recently, the jaunt was dead serious.

Seven University officials, including John S. Rendleman, president, toured the campus at the invitation of members of the Disabled Students Association to acquaint the administrators with possible problems confronting wheelchair-bound students attending the University.

Viewing the campus from the seat of a wheelchair is considerably different from the vista experienced by the foot-traveling student. President Rendleman and the other officials soon discovered. Stairs took on the air of an Alpine climb, the ascending steps disappearing into the ceiling like sheer mountainsides into the clouds.

"Things you take for granted when you are on your feet just aren't available," according to Rendleman. "It's much more stressful trying to get from one place to another," he said.

Evidently, the president wasn't the only official who found the trip back and forth the campus stressful. One administrator went without lunch because he felt it took too much effort to push himself around campus another time.

The wheelchair riders found first-hand that carpets require twice the amount of energy to roll across, that going to the bathroom became a chore and that it's next to impossible to get a drink of water from drinking fountains.

"You can't really know what the problems are unless you get into a wheelchair and stay there," H. D. Hudgens, vice-president for business affairs, said. "People stumble over you. Doors close in your face. Knuckles get scraped going through doorways. And door sills rise from the floor like cattle grids," Hudgens added.

The University officials gladly gave up their wheels when the business day was done. With just a jaunt across campus, the educators had been taught a subtle lesson in what a disadvantaged student confronts when he or she is determined to get an education.

"We as it was fun and games. We knew we'd be out of the wheelchairs tomorrow. But what about the students who won't?" Hudgens said.

Post 113 next plays Highland at 6 p.m. Wednesday at Highland.

Against Post 307, Paul Evans picked up the win on the mound after fanning 12 batters in five and a half innings of relief pitching. He replaced starter Randy Leyerla in the third.

The Tri-City squad scored a run in the second inning, two in the fifth, and one each in the seventh and eighth innings. Hitters included Jeff Scarborough, Dave Donohue, Paul Greenwald, Keith Champion, Kevin O'Sha and Evans.

Kevin Werner highlighted the Post 307 attack with a two-run homer in the sixth.

In losing to East Moline, Post 113 tallied three runs in the sixth and one in the seventh for a 4-4 deadlock, sending the game into extra innings. The visitors got the winning run in the ninth inning.

Donohue, Muschill and O'Sha hit to load the bases for Tri-City in the sixth. Runners then scored on hits by John Preichard, who totaled three hits in the game, and by Leyerla, the losing pitcher.

The tying run in the seventh came on hits by Evans, Eldon Warfield and Kirk Champion.

Preichard paced the Post 113 hitting against New Baden with four safeties in a game that saw the visitors hold a 10-2 lead going into the seventh inning. Collecting hits also for Tri-City were Muschill, Mark Greenwald, Jim Kafka, Champion, O'Sha and losing hurler Tony Stajduhar.

A scheduled Sunday morning contest with East Moline at Wilson Park was canceled due to wet diamonds.

Stafford, Wallace,
Groccman take top honors at speedway

Russ Wallace, of Arnold, Mo., a parts and service manager for a vacuum cleaning machine firm, swept his fifth consecutive late model stock car division feature race victory Saturday evening at Tri-City Speedway.

Jim Groccman was the sportsman division main event, and Indiana's Wes Stafford captured the midgut auto feature event.

Wallace worked his way through the pack, moving from seventh to the third running position within seven laps of the 20-lap late model feature. He held the number three spot until the last lap of the event, when Collinsville's Bob Gessche, who led from the start, and Kevin Gundaker of Ladue, tangled on the back straightaway.

The accident sent Gessche's race car hurtling over the top of Gundaker's auto spun into the infield, allowing Wallace to take the win. Neither driver was injured.

Other late model auto race victories were: Gundaker 1st heat; Mike Null and Clark

Roach, who finished in a dead heat in the 2nd heat; Les Gittens, 3rd heat and semifinal; and Lou Thery, handicap race.

Granite Cityan Larry Yates and Les Gibson each captured their heat races in the sportsman division competition. Mike Wallace and Ken Krohn followed Groccman across the finish line in the feature race.

Stafford placed second behind Wallace's Arnie Kroppier in the first midgut auto race before driving to victory in the 20-lap feature on the quarter-mile track.

Rosewood Heights' Chuck Taylor was second and Springfield's Duke Dossa third behind him at the checkered flag.

Deftosa and Bernie Ford won heat races. Position Board's Steve Stoddard placed second behind Dossa in one heat event.

The American Motorcycle Association motorcycle racing program resumes at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow on the dirt oval at Tri-City, with Texas Guy McChure seeking to win his second straight main event.

Doubleheader baseball sweep by GC Braves

The Granite City Braves, member of a Central Illinois Traveling Baseball League, will play two single games and a two night doubleheader this week, fresh from sweeping a doubleheader Saturday at Ferguson, Mo., 4-1 and 10-0 over the Junior American Legion squad.

The Braves will meet Venice Madison Post 307 at Lee Park tomorrow, head the Southside Bankers of St. Louis at Wilson Park Wednesday, and travel to Greenville for a doubleheader Thursday. All the action will begin at 6 p.m.

Twisting 1-0 in the first contest, the Braves began the third as Jim Cedar walked. He advanced to third when Jim Jackson reached base on an error. Mike Clark's triple drove both home, and he scored on Randy Smith's single.

Ed Pragma singled and scored on a hit by Tom Manogian, stretching the lead to 4-1 in the fourth.

The Missouri team's only other threat came in the fifth when it put runners on first and second with no outs. A line shot was snared by Shortstop Clark, who executed a double play.

Winner Pitcher Rick Fancher fanned the next batter to seal the third.

Ferguson put three runs across in the sixth but the Braves countered in the same inning with five of their own on error which allowed Lakin to score from second.

Hits by Manogian, Lakin, Evans, John Slay and Hankins gave the Braves a 3-0 margin in the third.

Port

The promotion of accelerated economic development both within the Port District and throughout the region.

As such, definitive goals, objectives, policies, priorities have been outlined which will enhance economic development through solvent and supporting port operations. The port's development plan includes provision of the following major physical elements:

1. Major expansion of dry bulk commodity facilities.
2. Expansion of liquid bulk terminal facilities.
3. General cargo and containerized shipping facilities.
4. Onsite industrial park development.

5. Road, rail, utility and port service improvements to accommodate development.

Since the start of the port development program one year ago, the following projects have also been initiated with SIMAPC's technical assistance as required.

A. Construction of two 5,000-gallon heated fuel oil tanks (completed and in operation).

B. Construction of two 5,000-gallon heated fuel oil tanks (nearing completion).

C. Construction of liquid bulk truck terminal (completed and in operation).

D. Acquisition of the Bi-State Development Agency's Port facilities in the harbor. The Port District now offers a full range of port services, including general cargo operations.

E. Construction of a $2,750,000 dry bulk commodity transfer facility expected to start this fall.

F. Site improvement, road improvement and waterline construction for industrial park development expected to commence in the fall of this year.

Progress made to date by the Tri-City Port District—coupled with the district's commitment toward increased and accelerated district development and service—is a significant example of responsible, self-initiated planning and implementation within Southwestern Illinois.

The Tri-City Port District's current and future success will contribute directly to positive port development, economic diversification, and high quality growth and accommodation throughout the metropolitan area, the Illinois region and the state.

SIMAPC is commending the district for its initiative and imaginative leadership in this area of regional interest and opportunity.

collected by the town collector during the period he has possession of the tax books. This means that taxes collected within the next two months—both personal and real estate taxes—may be distributed almost immediately to provide the taxing agencies with operating funds.

If the taxes are collected by the property distributions are made only at intervals determined by County Treasurer George Musso which, in the past, have proved to be late in summer, according to town officials.

Personal taxes are now payable by Granite City Township taxpayers to the office of City Treasurer Paul Rutledge at the City Hall. Rutledge said he has been told that real estate tax bills for Granite Cityans should be completed within the next week and if this projection holds he hopes to mail the real estate bills about June 25 or 26.

Venue Township taxpayers are paying personal property taxes to the office of Jerry McGowan, Venue Township collector, at the collector's office in the township building at 422 Madison Ave.

Richard Peck, Namekichi Township collector, is receiving personal property tax payments at his office, 801 Sixth St., Madison, by mail or in person, and Charles Lexow, Chouteau Township collector, 2310 Madison Ave., is receiving payments at his office at 720 Old Alton Road.

In all instances, the collectors said they will receive personal property payments by July 7. On that date the first 1 per cent penalty will be added on unpaid bills and the books will be returned to the county treasurer to whom payments will have to be made thereafter.

A penalty of 1 per cent per month will be added to unpaid bills. The collectors urged that payments be made locally within the prescribed period so that as much tax revenue as possible may be distributed to the local taxing bodies before the books are returned to the county.

Peck, Macraes and Lexow said they also have been told by county officials that real estate tax bills for their respective townships are expected to be mailed by the latter part of this month.

OPEN VENDING MACHINE About $150 in change was stolen from a soft drink vending machine in the basement of 2015 Delmar Ave., Tom Leef, the owner, was notified at 9:10 a.m. Thursday. A neighbor told police that she heard noise at that address. Police were unable to find anyone when they arrived, but noticed the machine had been forced open and a refrigerator door left open.

Fund use poses question

Honor awards for activities

Chouteau Township officials will have to resolve a question whether both federal revenue sharing and community development grant funds can be used jointly on one project before beginning construction of a proposed town hall community center building.

In a letter from Mary Kane, coordinator of the Madison County Community Development Program, the town board was informed that the funds from that program allocated by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the federal revenue sharing funds must be kept separated.

She suggested planning continue to construct the office portion of the building using community development grant funds, and the remainder of the building using revenue sharing.

Under these guidelines, the board instructed its architect, John Rapp, to begin designing a 3,000 to 4,000-square-foot building which may be constructed for $125,000 or less. The board previously decided a concrete block building with a brick front would be preferred to a metal building.

The board expects it will use the $80,000 to $85,000 community development money it should receive during the next three years plus more than $50,000 in revenue sharing to pay for the building.

Funds for the first year's payment on the building are included in the township's budget which are to be discussed at a public hearing June 30.

Rapp was asked if he could prepare the drawings for the new building by the end of June. They would be presented to the board either at its regular meeting June 23 or at the June 30 public hearing and meeting.

Honor awards for activities

Twenty-seven students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been named to receive Active Citizen Honor Society awards, including Michael R. Magee and Cherry Sharp of Granite City and Elaine A. Svesis of Venice.

The awards are given to students who have made significant contributions in the areas of extracurricular activity, according to Tom Romanin, director of student activities at the university.

The selection committee is made up of student representatives from the black student association, the cheerleaders, Cougar Guard, the fraternity/sorority conference, Major Events Council, student government and the University Center board.

Improvement in police pensions

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, Edwardsville Democrat, announced that his police pension bills which he sponsored passed the Senate on Friday. The bills implement changes "long overdue" in the downtown Police Pension Act, he said.

Vadalabene commented "It is significant in view of the present economic situation that the police agreed to increase their contribution to the pension funds by an additional one percent."

"These changes put downtown police on a comparable level with Chicago police and states in both contribution rates and benefits, raising the maximum benefits from 60 per cent to 75 per cent after 35 years of service."

Vadalabene said he is especially pleased that benefits for retired police also are increased under these pension bills.

Cross of Honor to H. L. Prewett

Master's degree program in engineering ok'd for SIUE

A master's degree program in engineering at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was authorized Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees, subject to approval by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The proposed new degree program is designed to offer practicing engineers an opportunity to advance their professional standing, according to Earl Laursen, dean of the SIUE School of Science and Technology.

He said it is conceived as "a continuing education degree program which would be offered in the evenings to employees of local industries. The degree would provide broad, advanced training with opportunities for limited specialized work."

SIUE President John S. Rendleman said the proposed program would fill a need for continuing professional advancement for engineers in the Metro-East region. "Since it addresses itself to a demonstrated educational need of area citizens, it is directly supportive of the regional mission of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville," he said.

University officials pointed out that the proposed program does not duplicate educational opportunities available to Metro-East residents from other Illinois institutions because the program is specifically aimed at employed professionals. It also was stated that existing programs in St. Louis are "significantly more expensive" for Illinois residents.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN
We don't know whether you noticed it, but last week's Jackpot Winner was a resident of Mitchell. The reason we mention this is that often we are in meetings of various kinds and people come up and say something like, "You know we would like to trade in your store but it is so far away", and usually these are people who don't live as far away as Mitchell.
The point is that "far away" is only a relative term. Obviously to many customers who come to Schermers from Mitchell, 12th and Madison is not "far away". If these fine people drive by practically every store in town in order to shop at Schermers, there must be a good reason. WE THINK THERE IS. The next move is up to you.

River Festival advance ticket sales set record

Ticket sales for the Mississippi River Festival at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are continuing to set all-time records, Lyle Ward, managing director, said Friday.

The seventh annual music, dance, art, crafts and film festival will begin June 30 and continue through Aug. 20 with approximately 50 events.

Ward said coupon book sales have reached $62,000, compared with $48,000 at this date in the best previous year. He said he has no doubt that the $80,000 goal will be reached.

Coupon books, which sell for $20, offer $25 worth of coupons redeemable for tickets to any MRP event.

Advance ticket sales have passed the $50,000 mark, the highest in MRP history, Ward said. Reserved tent seats for two of the programs, Bob Hope and "Yes," are completely sold.

and tickets for many other concerts are "moving fast," Ward said.

"But of course, we always have plenty of lawn seats available in our natural amphitheater, which can accommodate up to 20,000," he said.

SIU President John S. Rendleman, who also is president of MRP, Inc., believes "the combination of a good program and the fact that many people are not planning major vacation trips this year are causing a run on tickets for the MRP."

"The MRP offers great entertainment opportunities for people of the bi-state metropolitan area," Dr. Rendleman said. "And apparently more people are recognizing the possibilities this year as they search for vacation diversions close to home."

Ward credited the bi-state coupons of nearly 200 volunteers for the success of the coupon book sales campaign. And he said Missouri and Illinois businesses and corporations have supported the Festival with purchases of $18,000 in coupon books.

More than 40 bi-state outlets opened June 2 for sales of coupon books and tickets. Ward said he has reports of "long lines and brisk sales."

Concerts which are nearing the "sellout" point for reserved tent seats include The Osmonds, Mac Davis, Jefferson Starship, Dave Mason, Night of Barbershop Harmony and Gordon Lightfoot.

The MRP director also urged chamber music patrons to purchase tickets as early as possible. The auditorium of the Religious Center, where most of the chamber music concerts are scheduled, is limited to 200 seats.

Policy code revised

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees on Thursday adopted five revisions of its code of policy.

According to the board staff, "The changes are not substantive and have the effect of conforming board policy to long-established contrary practices by one or both universities."

The revisions include repeal of policies requiring a quarterly financial report, prohibiting bargaining with unions of police officers, requiring semiannual promotional and salary reviews, and prescribing a form for evaluation of non-academic employees.

The fifth change provides for inclusion of research and teaching assistants in the reporting of graduate assistants to the board in summaries showing names, degrees, assignments and monthly stipends.

The revisions first arose as recommendations from the constituency representative group which President John S. Rendleman of SIU at Edwardsville asked to review the code of policy, at the board's suggestion, in February.

The review group pointed out that new forms of financial reporting are under study, and said the requirement for a quarterly financial report, which is not observed in practice, should be taken off the records pending new provisions.

SIUE currently bargains with police unions, and the constituency representatives indicated there is a trend in that direction by other agencies. Regarding semiannual promotional and salary reviews, it was related that the practice ceased as budgets got tighter. Repeal was proposed both on grounds of economic reality and because the timing of such reviews should be left to administrative discretion.

Administrative discretion also was cited as the reason for dropping the use of employee evaluation forms. The review group said the responsibility and details of how to achieve an efficient non-academic staff should be left in administrative hands.

Bike-A-Thon entry forms ready

Entry forms are available for the Bike-A-Thon that will be held Sunday in Granite City to benefit the American Cancer Society.

The forms may be picked up at five locations.

Final plans for the event were announced this week by Joe Lucido, Granite City crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society. He will be assisted in the event by Mrs. Harriett Horn, Ron Luebbers, Frank Harris, Mrs. Mattie Pope, Earl French and Mrs. Lily Chaboude.

Proceeds will go to the Cancer Society to continue its work in research, service to cancer patients, public and professional education and rehabilitation.

The Bike-A-Thon will start at 1 p.m. and will end at 5 p.m. Parents and children are encouraged to participate in the affair. Anyone interested may pick up an entry blank at any of the following locations: First Granite City National Bank, YMCA, Michel's Jewelry Store, Schermers Men's Shop or the Granite City Steel Employees Credit Union.

Entrants are to get as many sponsors as they can. The event, which collects the most money from pledges of sponsors will receive free a tandem bicycle which is being donated by the Western Auto Store at 20th Street and Grand Avenue and the Granite City Steel Employees Credit Union.

Each rider will receive a red and white Bike-A-Thon patch, a bicycle "Rules of the Road" book and each of the first 200 registrants will be given free a bike bag with fiber glass pole ready for mounting.

The course is four miles long and the starting point is at Niedringhaus School. The riders will proceed south on State Street to 18th, west to Benton Avenue, north on Benton to 27th Street Parkway, east on Parkway to State Street, north on State and back to the starting point.

Special guest of the Bike-A-Thon will be Mrs. Harry (Mary) Rodgers of Granite City. Mrs. Rodgers is a cured cancer patient having undergone a radical mastectomy just five years ago. When asked to participate in this event, she said she was delighted and volunteered to assist in any way she could. Mrs. Rodgers, who knows what the Cancer Society means to cancer patients, consequently urges everyone who can ride a bike to participate Sunday.

The National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. endorses the introduction of special curriculum guides for teachers at all grade levels, entitled "People and Their Environment."

The Gardenaires Garden Club donated introductory volumes of these guides to all public schools in Granite City three years ago. This national program is endorsed by the USDA Forestry Service and the Shell Oil Company, who provided special workshops to train leaders to facilitate the endeavor on the State and local level.

Sixth graders feted at party

Fifty-six students attended the Webster School sixth-grade party held last week in the school gymnasium, which was decorated with red and white streamers and balloons.

The students danced and voted on the most popular boy and girl before eating cake in the cafeteria. The most popular boy was Tom Beck, and the most popular girl was Alisha Seitzinger. Prizes were awarded to David Filter, Teresa Patton and Kevin McGee.

The cafeteria table was decorated with white pennant streamers that each child could keep. Red cones in white vases were on each side of the sheet cake at the head table. A pennant with the school colors also was on the head table.

After refreshments, the students played games and 20 prizes were awarded. Party hostesses were Lena Seitzer, Irene Filter, Judy Lapardus and Sharon Cooper. Don Seitzer and Clyde Lee assisted.

in afternoon ceremony

Pyramid altar ornaments of yellow roses, white carnations and white pinks, and yellow satin ribbon pear markers created the setting at the Nameoki United Methodist Church for the wedding on June 8 of Miss Susan Kay Lybarger and Richard Thomas Kasabee.

Officiating was the Rev. William Pfeister, pastor, who performed the double ring ceremony at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Best man, Fred L. Hildebrand, and the groom's best man, David L. Hildebrand, were dotted swiss grooms designed in empire style.

Their rainbow colored dresses in yellow, blue, pink and white were also worn and featured a ruffle trim at the neckline.

Each held a colonial nosegay of daisies and baby's breath in a colonial style.

The groom chose his brother-in-law, David Henkel, as best man.

Organist Marilyn Bernaix accompanied Debbie Collins, soloist, singing "Sunrise, Sunset" and "Wedding Song."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lybarger, 1820 Primrose Ave. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kasheer, reside at 103; 1/2 N. 2nd St., Dayton, 11.

Man, David Monier, a cousin of the groom, James Sanford and Ramond Lybarger, a brother of the bride, were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Roy Logan and Ray Lybarger.

Guests attended a reception held in the church fellowship hall after the service.

The bridal party was en-

The groom was graduated in 1971 from Stanford University with a B.A. degree and on June 6 from the University of Illinois Medical Center.

They have departed for Santa Jose, Calif., where they will reside while Dr. Kasbee completes his internship at the Santa Clara County Hospital.

Environmental resources center, education plans endorsed by board

New and expanded program requests totaling $1,340,985 for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the 1976-77 fiscal year were approved Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees for submission to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The trustees met at Carbondale.

The timetable of the IBHE requires submission of new and expanded program requests by July 1, in advance of the full Resource Allocation and Management Program document for FY-77.

Funds requested are in three program areas: applied arts and sciences, $433,300; professional programs, $364,000; and delivery systems, $543,685.

The largest requests are for the new Environmental Resources Training Center, a total of $139,500 with the costs to be shared by the Environmental Protection Agency of Illinois; expansion of the doctor of dental medicine program, $251,000, to which $145,600 must be added if federal capital funds are not made available; and an operating budget of $398,285 for the proposed educational television station at SIUE.

Several program changes were approved which will not require new appropriations. These include: bachelor of social work, doctor of arts in physical sciences, doctor of arts in business and specialty certificates in endodontics, pedodontics and periodontology.

Other new programs included are requests for masters in clinical biochemistry, $60,000; doctor of science in computer science, $54,300; master of science in engineering, $30,000; master of science in environmental studies, $75,000; bachelor of fine arts, $27,000; master of science in management systems, $30,000; and specialty certificate in oral pathology, $8,000.

Other program expansion requests include: master of science in urban studies, $59,000; doctor of education, $13,000; School of Nursing, $90,000; and an accelerated program in sciences and technology for the Supplementary Instructional Program, $35,000.

The resolution adopted by the board leaves open the opportunity for the board to make adjustments or alterations in its requests as the full budget document for FY-77 is developed and considered.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD Mon., June 16, 1975 Page 17

SIUE resident center at Litchfield approved

Establishment of a Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville resident center at Litchfield was authorized Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

The center, to be similar to the one presently operating at Scott Air Force Base, will become effective with the fall quarter, 1976. It will offer course and programs for resident credit at tuition and fees identical to those charged for courses at Scott.

"This proposal is part of SIUE's commitment to label education to the people," SIUE President John S. Rendleman said.

The SIUE mission and scope statement includes the charge: "continue to develop alternative methods of study, such as the resident centers, British open university, workshops for in-service education of teachers, and intern programs, to provide educational opportunities for the large number of people, especially those older than the traditional age of college students, who because of job demands, family obligations, and/or financial constraints cannot commute to campus."

This proposal helps meet that charge," he said.

The proposal was developed by the office of the vice-president and provost and the School of Education. University officials said needs were identified in the Litchfield area through educational surveys and a long history of extension course offerings.

The SIUE Office of Off-campus Programs will administer the development of the center, with coordination by academic units. University officials said, initially, efforts will focus on advanced degrees for educators which cannot be offered through extension courses. Additional courses at both the undergraduate and graduate level will be offered as needs and resources are matched.

Advanced dental programs

Three advanced and specialized dental education programs for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine were authorized Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees, subject to approval by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The programs would lead to the award of specialty certificates in endodontics, pedodontics and periodontology, beyond the doctor of dental medicine degree awarded by SIUE. Other corresponding basic dental education degrees.

SIUE President John S. Rendleman said the proposed programs would help the School of Dental Medicine fulfill its mission of providing dental care for the central and southern regions of Illinois. He said no new state resources would be required for the programs.

According to Dr. Stanley Hazen, dean of the School of Dental Medicine, the number of applicants far exceeds the positions available in existing post-graduate endodontic programs in the United States each year.

"In fact, space is available for less than 10 percent of those applying for advanced training in endodontics," he said.

The dean said the need for pedodontists to treat children will increase greatly in the next few years because of pending Federal legislation. "The general practitioner does not have the specialty training required to treat the blind, deaf, cerebral palsied, mentally and other handicapped home living children," he said.

Regarding periodontology, Ugan Hazen said there has been a continued increase in interest in the specialty during the last 26 years. Each year, the number of applicants far exceeds the approximately 200 positions available in the United States each year.

"Across the board" budget cuts of six per cent were SIUE's commitment to label education to the people," SIUE President John S. Rendleman said.

An additional reduction ordered by the governor—which requires state agencies to hold two per cent of their 1975-76 fiscal year funds in allotment reserve would further reduce the amount of money available for dental health care.

"While we recognize the need for fiscal responsibility and integrity on the part of state government, the association feels that the $398 million figure originally proposed represents the minimum amount necessary to provide adequately for the needs of the mentally ill and developmentally disabled in Illinois," Joseph C. Kerr, executive

Voice dismay on budget cuts for ill, disabled

The Illinois Association for Mental Health expressed "concern and dismay" Friday over Governor Daniel Walker's proposal to cut funds in excess of $800 million for the mentally ill and developmentally disabled.

"Across the board" budget cuts of six per cent were SIUE's commitment to label education to the people," SIUE President John S. Rendleman said.

An additional reduction ordered by the governor—which requires state agencies to hold two per cent of their 1975-76 fiscal year funds in allotment reserve would further reduce the amount of money available for dental health care.

"While we recognize the need for fiscal responsibility and integrity on the part of state government, the association feels that the $398 million figure originally proposed represents the minimum amount necessary to provide adequately for the needs of the mentally ill and developmentally disabled in Illinois," Joseph C. Kerr, executive director, commented.

He added that "we further believe that the governor must realize that providers of community services for the mentally ill, as well as those receiving such services and their families, must resist any effort to substantially reduce program funds."

Kerr asserted that "the needs for an adequate appropriation is more critical now than at any time in the state's history. Economic rationale for the proposed cutback is no excuse."

"With economic conditions continuing to be grim, we will see an even greater need for mental health services."

"A reduction in the budget for the department, particularly of the size requested by the governor, would without question adversely affect the quality of care and treatment of the mentally ill of the state. Those concerned with such care and treatment will not tolerate or accept such irresponsible action."

Meeting on innovative education

Innovative and exemplary education in Illinois will be the subject of a public meeting Thursday, June 20, at Holiday Inn East, Springfield.

The meeting, to be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., will be conducted by the Title III ESEA Advisory Council. The 12-member group assists the Illinois Office of Education in administering federally-funded Title III programs.

Title II funds are allocated to school districts for projects designed to provide innovative solutions to educational problems or to establish model school programs.

A highlight of the meeting will be presentations featuring five of this year's best Title III projects in the state. They are:

- "Positive Attitudes Toward Learning," an effort by the Bethalto school district to improve student attitude.
- "Matteson Four-Dimensional Reading Program" by the Matteson elementary school district.
- "The High Risk Student," Matteson school district project to assist underachieving students.
- "Model Early Intervention Pre-Kinderergarten Program," an early childhood education project by the Park Ridge school district.
- "Understanding," a program for individualized instruction in Quincy schools.

Another agenda item will be a discussion of fourth year funding of Title III projects. Normally, projects are funded for a maximum of three years. The advisory council also will open the meeting to questions from educators and other interested parties attending.

Internship program at SIUE

The School of Business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a consumer internship program during the summer and fall quarters. Applications are now being accepted for either quarter.

The program takes the student where the action is," John Clow, associate professor of business education, said.

Students are assigned as consumer interns for a 10-week period in an agency, such as the Consumer Protection Agency of the attorney general's office, legal aid societies, or the Better Business Bureau offices in the St. Louis and Illinois metropolitan areas.

Activities may include a variety of experiences, including investigating consumer complaints, researching and synthesizing data from past legal cases, presenting consumer action information to committees, and preparing background data for legal defense purposes.

The interns receive college credit for their experience. The program is of value to students who plan to become consumer education teachers, consumer advocates, or lawyers, Clow said. There are no prerequisites for the program.

Additional information and applications may be obtained by calling John Clow at 618-682-2890 or 618-682-2732 or by writing him at Box 1808, School of Business, Edwardsville, Ill., 62025.

Conversion to metric system

School North and 39 teachers at High School South, that day's training will cost $2,046, it was estimated.

Supt. Davis said plans for the metric conversion should begin in the fall with the formation of committees to study the best way to make the change.

He said the cost of new metric materials will be absorbed partially by regularly budgeted money allocated to replace worn materials.

The biggest problem Supt. Davis said he sees resulting from the conversion will be re-educating adults who have grown up with the present measuring system.

He said he thinks federal government and state public education programs should help adults make the conversion.

State Supt. of Education Joseph M. Cronin is urging school districts to use textbooks in the elementary grades that will help teachers prepare students for metric measurement. Cronin said he wants high schools to use metric materials in math, science and vocational education before the sophomore and junior classes graduate.

Over 900 nations in the world are using the metric system.

Conversion to metric system

The State Board of Education has voted to have the metric system taught in Illinois elementary and secondary schools by 1980.

Granite City Superintendent of Schools B. J. Davis said metric measurements already are being used in high school chemistry, science and math classes. He said that before the system is taught throughout the district, however, new materials and texts will have to be bought and teachers probably will have to go through an in-service training seminar.

For 23 teachers at High

Conversion to metric system

School North and 39 teachers at High School South, that day's training will cost $2,046, it was estimated.

Supt. Davis said plans for the metric conversion should begin in the fall with the formation of committees to study the best way to make the change.

He said the cost of new metric materials will be absorbed partially by regularly budgeted money allocated to replace worn materials.

The biggest problem Supt. Davis said he sees resulting from the conversion will be re-educating adults who have grown up with the present measuring system.

He said he thinks federal government and state public education programs should help adults make the conversion.

State Supt. of Education Joseph M. Cronin is urging school districts to use textbooks in the elementary grades that will help teachers prepare students for metric measurement. Cronin said he wants high schools to use metric materials in math, science and vocational education before the sophomore and junior classes graduate.

Over 900 nations in the world are using the metric system.

Oil alternatives haven't surfaced

By FRANK MACOMBER

Federal Energy Administrator

Frank G. Zarb is worried about the uncertainty of continued oil imports to the United States partly because alternate energy development programs aren't panning out as he had anticipated.

Zarb says the nation's energy crisis is more grave today than it was before the 1973

Arab oil embargo. But his statement that "everything is going the wrong way in America's energy effort is even more significant.

Without putting it into so many words, Zarb is saying that the nation's drive to harvest energy from sources

other than petroleum is limping along at a pace too slow to meet President Ford's "convey of independence goal of 1985.

America, he emphasizes,

must look farther down the road than the service station.

It takes more than full gas-line tanks to run a country,

Zarb suggests.

Obviously he is referring to the molasses-slow tempo of alternate-energy projects.

The situation took on even more critical proportions

when the U.S. Geological Survey May 7 issued a sharply reduced forecast of America's oil and natural gas reserves.

The new estimate disclosed that the United States has thirded to one-half as much oil and gas as was reported a year ago. It was the second time in two years the agency's estimates have been slashed.

Interior Secretary Rogers

C. Morton, chief of the President's Energy Resources Council, says the new figures provide "sobering additional evidence" that the energy crisis "hangs over the nation like a thundercloud."

Ironically, the government is one of the detractors to a swift-moving, vigorous new energy program.

Another is the army of environmentalists or ecologists that challenges virtually every effort to tap new energy sources or expand existing ones.

Another factor in the falttering energy program, as Zarb points out, is the failure of the American consumer to conserve fuel as strictly as Mr.

Ford urged last year.

To some extent the utility companies are at fault here.

For years they educated the public to use gas and electricity to buy kitchen and household appliances that devoured power.

Their ads are aimed at conservation. But Americans for so many years have used energy so generously they are having trouble cutting down, even as utility rates climb sharply all over the country.

Consumers are complaining about the rates but are using about as much energy as they did before the need for conservation set in, most utilities report.

And what of the alternative energy sources? Zarb points out, is the failure of the American consumer to conserve fuel as strictly as Mr.

Ford urged last year.

Reservations about across-the-board state budget cuts

Having won his first term over a governor who had the audacity to raise taxes, Governor Daniel Walker may have seemed consistent last week when he called for budget cuts to avoid a deficit and a tax hike.

But there was considerable inconsistency because Gov. Walker was suggesting a six per cent across-the-board reduction in the obviously questionable budgeting plans he himself had pushed so strongly three months ago.

The solution he presented in a special message to a joint session of the House and Senate is not actually a solution because across-the-board slashes by their nature are unfair and sometimes chaotic. A scalpel, not an axe, must be wielded — and skillfully.

Not much time remains in the session ending June 30 to carry out the spending revisions, and this seriously complicates the task.

Balanced regional representation remains an illusion

Just as the issue of "taxation without representation" spawned the American revolution two centuries ago, the question of an adequate voice for area residents and communities has been the principal reason for hesitancy over accelerating the movement toward regional governmental decisions.

There are no kings across the river, but the powers that be are not always fully attuned to the needs and wishes of this area, nor is it likely that they could be.

To a limited degree there is widespread representation on such governmental and quasi-governmental entities as the Bi-State Development Agency and East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

But the increasingly direct governmental

Major Richard Daley of Chicago — like Gov. Walker, a Democrat — opposes budget alterations affecting education, senior citizens and public aid recipients. Republican legislative leaders promised Thursday to do what they can to trim expenditures, but blamed the governor for "near-sighted management" in his March appeal that the state "spend its way out of the recession."

Eyes of Illinoisans will be on Springfield this week and next week as the fiscal deliberations take place simultaneously with efforts to deal with the traditional logjam of general legislation.

It will be a hectic period, and brings to mind Will Rogers' view that the citizenry will be able to sleep a bit more comfortably at night after the legislature is no longer in session.

Incentive gone

Old people used to get respect. That was back when families were closely knit and the tax laws put a little money to be handed along.

Related involvement of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association in port matters and other topics raises many questions because RCGA, while a basically admirable group, is and will always be dominated by St. Louis-St. Louis County.

The subject is brought to mind by announcements that the RCGA is joining the ranks of those making St. Louis metropolitan area airport studies, and hopes to have a recommendation by this fall.

Regardless of its findings, the new airport study can hardly help but be inappropriate. It will be presented as a more or less balanced, regional viewpoint and there is no way RCGA can be more than a preted deal in filling such a role.

Suspicion justified

A top-level government commission should be appointed to investigate rumors that there is a railroad that is suspected of making money.

Compensation procedures inefficient

To the Editor:

I realize that possibly you won't be interested in my suggestion, but I would very much like to see some action on the inefficiency of the Unemployment Compensation office.

My husband is thirteen weeks behind on his pay.

He signed up on Jan. 18, 1975. We received a check in February, one on March 14 for the week ending Feb. 8, and two checks on April 14 for weeks ending March 22.

We haven't received payment since then.

Recently we have been living on our rebate check, and some money I earned as a bowling league officer.

We had exhausted our savings prior to receiving our rebate check.

I have written Governor Daniel Walker and Representative Melvin Price. I might add with no reply.

My husband goes to the Granite City office, and either gets put off or gets about half pay.

They have recently suggested that we write to other people. I imagine, I hope, that they are hopeless we felt when the deputy suggested there was nothing he could do.

I know several people; this is happening to, so I conclude there must be thousands more.

Recently, I have read several articles and heard news casters speak on the subject.

They have taken the other side, though. They have talked of the jobs that aren't filled, because people make as much money on unemployment — taxation.

My husband is in road construction. I hope he will be back to work soon.

A "necessary business expense"?

Americans oversold on alternative power

A few promising signs of a receding recession appear to be persuading Americans that the nation's energy program somehow has a fail-safe valve that will assure its success by 1985.

The Alaskan oil pipeline project, to be sure, is on schedule and likely will be completed to carry up to two million barrels of North Slope crude to the ice-free port of Valdez for transshipment to the United States by mid-1977.
